The First Step in Your Career as a Professional Make Up Artist

If you decide to give yourself a chance to understand the duty of a professional make up artist and to explore the possibility for a side-job or a new job, this course is an essential opportunity. It is a general belief that solely doing makeup for media or artists means professional make up. However, this only fulfills part of the definition of professional make up. In fact, the character, the environment (e.g. lighting and occasion), and the standard of the make up should all be taken into account when it comes to professional make up.

The combination of the following factors gives the complete definition of professional make up: the stereoscopic expression of facial profile, the shaping of eyebrows, and the design of different types of make up. These factors provide the basis for the key points to be demonstrated in this course.

Course Summary: The application of different types of makeup foundation. Eyebrows Shaping and Matching with the correct shape of faces. Facial contouring and corrective makeup. Definition and techniques of professional makeup.

Commencing Date	: (Flexible schedules)
